

2017 ANNUAL EVENTS RECAP / 2018 UPDATES

Earth Day Fair 2018:

A few of us have participated in this over the past few years. This is something we like to support, so we'll send out information soon.

Nano Art Festival - Saturday, July 29th

What a good weekend! The heat was literally scorching but we all made it through. It was a long day starting at 8:30am to catch the Farmers Market rush, and staying till almost 9pm through the band playing. Wine Girl Wines was fantastic, and they all took SUCH good care of us. There were 7 artists that participated, and we made $80 in the raffle for the scholarship fund.

For 2018:

- Will be a different weekend (trying to avoid the heat)
- LCAA Members Only event, or $25 for non-Members
- Planning will start in a couple months

Creative Arts Festival - Sat & Sun, Aug 19th & 20th

Another successful art festival! We ended up with almost a triple booth with 5 artists, nice and spread out. The weather couldn't have been more perfect! After quite a few years of participating and taking the past two years off, we were all very happy to be participating again this year... and looking forward to 2018!

For 2018: No changes. Dates are August 18th and 19th, more info to come soon.

Holiday Bazaar - Saturday, November 25th

Traffic during the day was nice & steady. Lots of people out and about looking for Santa and taking advantage of Small Business Saturday and the great deals a lot of downtown businesses were offering. Obviously the Gala was not what we had anticipated, but we already have tons of ideas for next year (like NOT having it the same evening as the Apple Cup game LOL!). Overall consensus from the artists was a great success and we all had fun. We raised $345 for the LCAA Scholarship Fund, and $100 for the Food Bank.

For 2018:

- More than likely will be the same weekend; voting on that and other things will come in the fall though when we start the planning process.
- Gala will be worked around other events.

HDCA's Small Town Christmas Crafts with Kids Saturday, December 16th

Crystal and Danita hosted again this year, this was the second year we have done this. We try to keep it simple for the young kids, but fun enough for any age. This year we made cards with a large amount of "decorations", stickers, stars, markers to color, etc. for decorating. We definitely had a lot more people than last year, close to 70 people came and went. And it was nice advertising for the Alliance in the newspaper article! We were at Chelan Printing and that seemed to be a perfect location! Thank you HDCA for including us in the Small Town Christmas Events!

For 2018:

No changes that we know of, info will come in October-ish.
